James Martin – ACE Executive Director and Henry Buhl – ACE Founder

Dear Friends,

In the summer of 1992, as Henry Buhl walked from his home in SoHo, a homeless man asked him for $20. Rather than giving him the money, Henry offered him a job sweeping the sidewalk. Since that day, your generous support has helped ACE emerge as a leading provider of workforce development services for New York's homeless men and women.

In 2017, ACE marked 25 years of service. We are proud of our accomplishments and appreciate your support.

Together, we have helped over 3,000 men and women secure full-time employment, changing the lives of thousands of New Yorkers and their families while improving the quality of life for millions citywide through our sanitation and beautification programs. We could not have done it without you!

In June of 2017, ACE moved from our long time home in SoHo to our new state of the art workforce development facility in Long Island City. With greater capacity, double the classroom space and increased computer terminal access, the move to the new facility best positions us to serve more of the estimated 60,000 New Yorkers who are currently experiencing homelessness.

As we begin a new chapter in our new home, 2018 brings new challenges. New York City is facing record numbers of homeless men and women on the street and in homeless shelters. We sincerely hope you will continue to support our programs and join us in our fight to end homelessness. Together, we can provide New Yorkers experiencing homelessness with hope for a better life.

Sincerely,

Henry Buhl
ACE Founder

James Martin
Executive Director

OUR MISSION

The Association of Community Employment Programs for the Homeless (ACE) works with homeless men and women throughout New York City, providing job training, work experience and a lifetime support network to help our program participants achieve their goals and establish economic independence.

OUR STORY

On a summer morning in 1992, as Henry Buhl was leaving his SoHo loft on Greene Street a homeless man asked him for $20. Recalling the saying, “If you give a man a fish, he eats for a day; if you teach a man to fish, he eats for a lifetime,” Henry offered to pay the man for sweeping the sidewalk in front of his building. Henry rallied the local businesses to follow suit and within months word had spread about the new initiative. Men and women experiencing homelessness were eager to join the sweeping crew and start rebuilding their lives. Henry began accepting referrals from homeless shelters and soon founded the SoHo Partnership, the first of several local initiatives. In 2010, these initiatives came together to be known as the Association of Community Employment Programs for the Homeless.

ACE celebrated its 25th Anniversary in 2017 and has grown to serve more than 600 people annually. Since 1992, we have helped over 3,000 homeless New Yorkers find full-time jobs, reconnect with their families and achieve economic self-sufficiency.

ERIK'S STORY: IN HIS OWN WORDS

My name is Erik. I grew up in a poor neighborhood on the Lower East Side of New York City in the 1970's. My father was an alcoholic, so my mother raised me by herself. It was rough for me back then.

I started drinking and smoking when I was 13. It's hard, as a child, to know what's right and what's wrong, which is what I was—a child. I didn't understand that being a productive part of the community meant you worked hard and paid taxes. I wish I knew that. I had no one to teach me back then. When I was 14, I got locked up for selling drugs. I was sent to Rikers Island. It was scary. On one hand I wondered, Am I going to make it through this? On the other hand I thought, If I make it through this, everyone on the street will respect me. I was confused, with no one to guide me. After serving eight months, I was released and given five years probation.

I was arrested several more times over the next few years and found myself in and out of prison. It's hard to do the right thing in prison. In society, if you break the law, you're an outsider. In prison, if you do the right thing, you're an outsider.

Finally, finding myself locked up on yet another drug charge, I realized something had to change. I made a conscious decision to end the cycle. I took the time to sit down and work things out. I thought, Do I want to die in here? I realized how badly I was hurting my family, my daughter, myself. At last, I understood, I was hurting society. Selling drugs hurts people.

I was released from prison in 2016, but I didn't have the trust of my family. My daughter wanted to help me but she was scared that I was going to go to prison again. She thought, He's been to jail, he's been to institutions, and only death is left for him. I needed something to show me the way.

In early 2017, a counselor at a New York City homeless shelter referred me to ACE. At ACE, it was like I had finally found myself. I wasn't afraid to ask questions, I didn't feel like I was going to be judged. The people at ACE worked with me to build my confidence and that made me want to work harder. Some days, I worked so hard that my fingers hurt, but it was what I wanted to do. I wanted to give back to the community that I had hurt in the past, and I just worked really hard. It paid off because I eventually got hired as a full-time sanitation worker.

ACE has changed my life, it really has. I enjoy my job, and I like the people I work with. I wish the same for everyone who comes to ACE. If I can do it, anyone can do it. It was the best thing that could have ever happened to me.

I wake up every day and I thank God. I have a job, I have my own apartment, and I have my family back in my life. My daughter tells me, "Dad, keep doing what you're doing, because it's working." She's really proud of me now.

PROJECT COMEBACK

Project Comeback is ACE's workforce development and vocational rehabilitation program. In Project Comeback, men and women who are experiencing homelessness obtain the educational, interpersonal and technical skills they need to secure and retain full-time, permanent employment. Participants are welcomed to Project Comeback from homeless shelters, addiction treatment centers, and transitional facilities located throughout New York City.

Project Comeback participants maintain a busy schedule that balances two days per week of paid work experience with three days of education and skills training. Our staff provides one-on-one support to meet each participant's needs. Participants graduate Project Comeback upon securing full-time, permanent employment.

PROJECT COMEBACK OFFERS

INDUSTRY SPECIFIC CERTIFICATIONS in OSHA 10-Hour General Industry, OSHA 10-Hour Construction Safety, OSHA Flagger and OSHA Supported Scaffold User, Forklift, Custodial Maintenance, and Food Protection.

SOFT-SKILLS TRAINING that develops interpersonal skills, enhances job-seeking skills, and prepares participants for the transition to self-sufficiency. Our courses and workshops cover topics such as interviewing techniques, how to maintain employment, transitioning off of public benefits, researching healthcare options, and creating a housing plan.

ADULT EDUCATION in literacy, math, and computer training. ACE offers a contextualized learning experience focused on vocational themes and crucial daily living skills.

WORK EXPERIENCE that allows participants to enhance their resumes while learning the rules and expectations of the workplace. Work experience opportunities include sanitation, horticultural services, and internships at local businesses.

JOB PLACEMENT ASSISTANCE to participants as they work toward securing full-time employment. Participants meet weekly with ACE job developers to review job leads, set up interviews, and share feedback.

PROJECT STAY

Project Stay is ACE's life-long aftercare program that helps Project Comeback graduates retain employment, increase their earning power, and complete their transition to self-sufficiency.

PROJECT STAY OFFERS

MONTHLY MEETINGS where newly employed graduates receive support from their peers.

WORKSHOPS on financial literacy, networking, leadership, business etiquette, conflict resolution, stress management, and work/life balance.

BI-MONTHLY RECREATIONAL OUTINGS to bring graduates together in a positive social setting and reward them for their hard work.

INDIVIDUALIZED SUPPORT through on-site services and outside referrals, including assistance with accessing housing, healthcare, child-care services, educational opportunities, free tax preparation services, and addiction and mental health services.

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITIES to pursue educational goals and industry-specific certifications.

FINANCIAL INCENTIVES for graduates who maintain employment.

SUPPORTED EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES to participants with the most extreme barriers to employment.

PROJECT HOME

Project Home is ACE's housing subsidy program, which provides a three-year rent subsidy to select graduates of Project Comeback. This allows graduates to meet the financial demands of living in their own apartment and serves as a foundation from which they can pursue increased earning power and develop independent living skills. Subsidy recipients also receive individual support from a case manager who works to establish, track, and measure progress toward vocational goals.

OUR PARTNERS

On behalf of over 600 New Yorkers served at ACE this year, we would like to thank all of our incredible community partners. You make it possible for so many men and women to achieve their potential and rejoin the workforce.

“When they offered me the position it was unbelievable. I was ecstatic. All the time and effort meant something. I have benefits now, this is a career. ”

John - 2017 ACE Graduate

“I had the opportunity to change my life with ACE. I feel really good when I look in the mirror now, I feel really good when I put on my work uniform, and I feel really good when I deposit my check. There is light at the end of the tunnel. ”

George - 2017 ACE Graduate

“When I was doing negative things before, people in the community didn’t want to speak to me. In my work now, people respect what I do. They come out and talk to me and say, ‘Thanks for keeping the neighborhood clean’, and that gives me a sense of pride. ACE tries to give you that better life, all you have to do is really want it.”
